

Rezidor to open a new Radisson in Johannesburg

2007-05-09

In late 2008, the company will open the new Radisson Sandton, Johannesburg located in the upmarket business district Sandton north of the city centre, featuring 256 rooms and 27 suites.

'South Africa is an upcoming destination for business and leisure travellers', comments Kurt Ritter, President & CEO of The Rezidor Hotel Group. 'The government has prioritised tourism as a key economic sector, and international arrivals increase continuously - we are expecting new heights in 2010 when the country hosts the FIFA World Cup.' With the existing Radisson and Park Inn hotels in Cape Town, as well as the recently signed Radisson hotel in Port Elizabeth, this marks another milestone of the development and commitment of The Rezidor Hotel Group in South Africa.

The Radisson Sandton, owned by Sandton Isle (Pty) LTD, will be located close to the Johannesburg Stock Exchange, the Convention Centre, some of the country's best shopping malls and golf courses; the international airport is 18 kilometers away. Services of the property will include a restaurant with wine tower bar, 8 conference rooms, a pool and a sundeck. Guests will also have direct access to a Planet Fitness Platinum flagship gym and a wellness health spa.

Sandton has become the new financial centre of South Africa and is Africa's premier business centre. Furthermore, it is home to the Sandton Convention Centre, one of the largest convention centres on the continent and primary site of the 2002 World Summit on Sustainable Development (also known as "Rio + 10"), which Johannesburg hosted.
