Indianapolis based Noble Roman's, Inc. (BULLETIN BOARD: NROM) today announced the signing of another Area Development Agreement for 45 units, along with receipt of the development fees, for its dual-branded concepts, Noble Roman's Pizza and Tuscano's Italian Style Subs.

Area Developers pay a development fee of $.05 per capita in their development area, and receive 30% of the initial franchise fee and 2/7ths of the royalty from the locations developed pursuant to their agreements. Noble Roman's, Inc. retains all training and supervision responsibilities, and must approve all franchisees and all locations. In order to maintain the right to develop the territories, each Area Developer has to meet the minimum development schedule as stipulated in their Area Development Agreement. The territory covered by this development schedule has a population of approximately 2.8 million people.

During the last few months the company has announced the signing of thirteen other Area Development Agreements for its traditional, dual-branded concept. With the signing of this new agreement, the fourteen Area Development Agreements in place thus far call for 534 units over the next five to seven years. In addition, so far this year the company has entered into 73 dual-branded franchise agreements for traditional locations, 33 of which were sold through Area Developers.

The company has franchises in 45 states from coast-to-coast within the United States plus Guam. In addition, it has sold franchise agreements for military bases in Puerto Rico, Guam and Italy, and for entertainment facilities and convenience stores in Canada. In past years the company's growth strategy was to expand primarily through franchising in non-traditional locations. Today, the company is continuing its growth by franchising non-traditional locations. Now, in addition, it is also part of the company's strategy to sell dual-branded Franchise Agreements for traditional locations. The company is selling development territories to Area Developers to spur this growth in stand-alone traditional locations.
