

Hawaiian Raises Transpacific Fares

2008-03-13

In an effort to offset the rising costs of operations - most recently, the escalation in fuel prices - Hawaiian Airlines announced that it has increased its round-trip airfares for flights between Hawaii and the U.S. mainland by $30, effective immediately for travel starting on or after May 1, 2008.

Glenn Taniguchi, senior vice president - marketing and sales, commented, "The costs of providing our product continue to rise, and this modest increase will help preserve the high quality of our service."

Hawaiian offers nonstop daily service between Honolulu and the Western U.S. cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, San Jose, Sacramento, Portland, Phoenix, Seattle and Las Vegas, as well as nonstop service between Kahului, Maui and Seattle, Portland and San Diego.
