Confirms Live Remote Casino Gaming Future

Kenilworth Systems Corporation (Pink Sheets: KENS) Kenilworth Systems Corporation, the developer of Roulabette for playing along from remote locations on LIVE, IN-PROGRESS CASINO TABLE GAMES, reported the Macau government, in order to prevent competition in an already over crowded market, has frozen the issuance of new gambling developments by halting the issuance of additional gambling licenses for the next ten (10) years, and suspended the acceptance of applications for additional gambling tables and slot machines from existing casino operators. In doing so, the Macau government and China are signaling a changing pattern in gambling -- the introduction and acceptance of remote Internet casino gambling, as patented by Kenilworth for its Roulabette system in forty-nine (49) industrialized countries of the world, now including China and Russia.

Regulated Internet gambling can identify the compulsive and under aged gamblers, the 17/18 year olds. With appropriate enforcements, Internet gambling will become acceptable world wide -- a future annual $500 billion dollar net win market shared by all governments and service companies.

China now leads the world with 220 million Internet users, a mere seventeen percent (17%) of its population, compared with 216 million seventy-one percent (71%) who use the Internet in the United States. Adoption of the Roulabette system is capable of providing five times more users in China in a short time. China's Patent Offices approved Kenilworth's patents for Remote Casino Table Game Wagering after a seven (7) year filing date. Kenilworth dubbed the system "Roulabette".

The upper middle class players and the very affluent gamblers from around the world will continue to visit casinos. The 25-35 year-olds, who crave casino action, will play along more often with Roulabette. The senior citizen and old time horse racing fans will find it more convenient to gamble from home, on cell and telephones, public gathering places such as cafés, hotels, resorts, and selected nearby neighborhood restaurants and bars. Costly car and airline trips will be avoided. Roulabette will compete with Day Time and Late Night TV Shows with Ad Revenue shifting to less expensive gambling entertainment.

The Roulabette System employs the latest encrypted satellite and cable technology. It places television cameras in strategic locations above the casino table games, without disrupting the normal game-monitoring activities, and transmits the LIVE, IN-PROGRESS CASINO TABLE GAMES via cable, satellite and, in most instances, the Internet to television sets which become the platform for playing along with the casino games,

House of Representative Barney Franks and Presidential Candidate Senators Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton and John Mc Cain have voiced their opinions in favor of legalizing Internet gambling. It is the way of the future, no different than Mega Million and Power Ball, and provides an additional taxable source.
