Company in discussions to become the source of organic avocados for a large Mexican restaurant operator

Today, Organic Alliance, Inc. (Pink Sheets: NBDL) is pleased to announce that the company is in discussions with a large operator of approximately 400 Mexican restaurants to become a supplier of organic avocados.

"Through our Mexican-Canadian Consortium supplier agreement covering organic tomatoes and avocados, we are able to quickly establish Organic Alliance in the food industry," said Tom Morrison, Organic Alliance CEO. "We look forward to being able to provide our prospective clients with organic products that are certified at the source," said Morrison.

As more consumers demand high quality organic food options from their favorite restaurant, Organic Alliance is positioning itself to serve not only major and private label food manufacturers, but also the grocery and restaurant industries.
