

Dana Point, California Hotel Opens Executive Conference Center

Doubletree Guest Suites Doheny Beach Hotel, a popular Laguna Beach hotel, is celebrating the grand opening of its new 5,000 sq. ft. state-of-the-art conference center. Located in Southern Orange County, the Dana Point hotel provides a refreshing destination meeting choice for employers and business clients in nearby Los Angeles and San Diego.

Designed to the specifications of several conference and planning professionals, the new center combines clean, attractive spaces with capable amenities proven to decrease fatigue and boost productivity. Thoughtful and proactive amenities include tack-safe wall surfaces, non-glare hard writing boards, ergonomic chairs, windows for natural lighting, and a meeting planner toolkit featuring last minute items such as push pins, staplers, highlighters, and more. Meetings can be further enhanced with high-tech audio/visual assistance and continuous break stations.

The self-contained facility features three large conference rooms with seating capacities of up to 162 people arranged classroom-style. Rooms are available on a 24-hour basis to lessen the stress of a late meeting time crunch.

As part of the grand opening, the hotel is offering convenient 'All Inclusive' meeting packages that provide discounts to audio/visual equipment, catering per person, Internet access, and additional supplies. Group value dates are available as part of the 'Meet at the Beach' offer. Group value packages include discounted parking along with concessions gifts and point bonuses for members of Hilton's HHonors Event Planners program.

The conference center joins another 4,700 sq. ft. of general event space used most often for larger scale social events and beachfront weddings in Dana Point.
